

A critical incident event at your worksite can have a significant impact upon your people, customers and business operations.

It is imperative that these events are appropriately managed to protect your business reputation and standing in your industry.

At HWL Ebsworth Lawyers, we offer a 24/7 National response to attend your workplace and manage the critical incident.

We have an experienced team of dedicated safety lawyers located in each office around Australia, who have the ability to immediately respond to an urgent phone call to provide legal advice, instructions and travel to your workplace.

It only takes one phone call to request our legal advice, to engage our services to conduct an investigation that is private, confidential and protected by legal professional privilege.

Our team members in each State and Territory around Australia have the local knowledge to manage the interactions with the local Safety Regulators, Police, Coroners Office, Unions and the Media, to ensure that all persons are protected and your business is able to safely recommence its operations.

We offer a free 30 minute consultation call to allow an assessment if an immediate incident response is required.
